

WORKSHOP

University Center at
Colorado Mesa University
Grand Junction, CO

Bridging the Gap Between Land Manager Needs & Scientific Research—How Landscape Conservation Cooperatives Can Help You!

Wed, February 19th,
1:30pm

This workshop is being held as part of Tamarisk Coalition's 2014 Riparian Restoration Research & Management Conference, Grand Junction, CO Feb 18th-20th.

Agenda Overview

- Introduction and overview of LCC's
- Tools and Resources LCC's Can Provide to Land Managers
- How Researchers Can Get Linked in to Upcoming Applied Research Funding Opportunities
- Research Scientist Presentations: Updates on Current & Recent Riparian Restoration Related LCC-funded Projects
- Land Manager Presentations: Updates on Current Focus Areas of Their Work and the Key Resource Management
- Interactive Discussion About Current Research and Land Manager Needs

Land managers often have questions about the best way to proceed when managing on-the-ground natural resource projects.

Scientific researchers are always looking for new questions to study and answer. How can we better connect the two?

Landscape Conservation Cooperatives (LCC's) function to connect these two groups by providing a venue for land managers to voice their natural resource management questions and needs, and by providing funding to scientific researchers to investigate these questions.

Come learn more about how LCCs can help you voice and answer your land management/research questions and needs!

Land managers overlooking the Dolores River

Come prepared to engage in the conversation and share the resource management challenges you face!

For more information about this workshop contact jknudson@tamariskcoalition.org or call 970-256-7400. This workshop is being held in conjunction with the Tamarisk Coalition's Annual Conference February 18-20, 2014 in Grand Junction, Colorado.

For more information about attending the overall conference, please visit:
<http://tamariskcoalition.org/programs/conferences/2014>